Hi Kleyton,

All right let's do feedback:
- Good choice for the site
- When scrolling down, there goku image covers the navigation bar.
- Text requires padding and a better alignment, center gives you that wavy outside, justify will give you a clean up and down on each side.
- characters should be positioned more cleanly in the center, the cards are too left aligned
- nav text should be larger
- you could feed some of the colours from the hero image into your headers and other sections, to provide a more consistent feel to the site, First screen opening is like wow this will be good, then as you scroll down through the content it gets very plain in design, so you might want to amp that design up a bit.
- add more images.
- footer nav doesn't need to be that large for three links., but if you add something like shenron on the right hand side, it will work out.

Good luck with it.

kind regards
